A 2016 Junior Library Guild Selection! Introducing FREEDOM IN CONGO SQUARE: a poetic, nonfiction story about a little-known piece of African-American history that captures the human capacity to find hope and joy even in the most difficult of circumstances.

As slaves toiled in an unjust system in nineteenth-century Louisiana, they counted the hours until Sunday, when they were briefly able to congregate in New Orleans' Congo Square. There they were free to set up an open market, sing, dance, and play music. For one precious day they could forget their cares, struggles, and oppression. The story chronicles the slaves' daily duties and builds to the freedom of Sundays and their afternoons spent in Congo Square. The book also features a foreword by a leading Congo Square historian and a glossary of terms to give further context to the story.

Award-winning author Douglas Florian describes rabbits' favorite things in this sweet, poetic story.

This lyrical story follows a family of rabbits as they have fun doing everyday things such as digging holes, building snow rabbits, and thumping their feet. As the day comes to an end, readers will learn that the rabbits' favorite thing to do is “say good night with a hug and a kiss.”

There's leaping and creeping and digging up holes.

Little Owl wants to cuddle with Mommy Owl, but there are so many different types of cuddles. Which kind will she choose?

Little Owl thinks about all kinds of cuddles she could give Mommy Owl: good-morning, good-bye, thank-you, and good-night cuddles; cuddles for when Little Owl is sorry, for when she's scared, for when she's happy, and for when she's sick. But none of them is quite right! Little Owl finally finds the right cuddle to give: the Mommy cuddle, because she loves Mommy so much!

Meet a little girl named Lucy and her best friend, Lila...who happens to be a pink elephant!

Lucy has a wild imagination, and she likes to draw. One day in art class, her teacher asks the students to draw what they did over the weekend, and Lucy sketches herself having fun with a pink elephant named Lila! She tells everyone how they chased butterflies, had tea parties, and more—but her classmates don't believe that Lila is real. After class, Lucy rides home on the bus with her friends and is greeted by her very real friend Lila. Young readers will love this sweet story about the true meaning of friendship—and they'll adore being in on the secret that, while Lucy's classmates are skeptical, Lila is real!

Joey struggled with his drawing.

But Lucy, on the other hand, knew exactly what she was going to draw!

And once she started drawing, she couldn't stop! She even needed more paper.

A sweet story about a father and son and the favorite part of their day—coming home and spending time with each other!

Bertie wants to go with his dad to work at the construction site—but he's too young, and he has to go to school. While he's there, he does everything he possibly can to be like his dad. He paints pictures of derricks during art, climbs to the top of the jungle gym to see the tower Daddy is building, and builds his own "tower" out of boxes. After Daddy picks him up, Bertie tells him all about his day. Daddy listens carefully and says that the best part of his day is being home with Bertie, and Bertie agrees!

CLAIRE ALEXANDER is an author-illustrator based in North London, whose works include Small Florence, Piggy Pop Star!, and Back to Front and Upside Down! She teaches courses on writing and illustrating picture books, and she loves visiting schools and running workshops for children.

But then I finished my tower, and I think
I saw you, Bertie, on the climbing frame!

Kids will plunge right into this clever tale about the unlikely friendship between a scuba-diving dog and a musical whale!

While his dog friends jam in a musical band, this pup loves to make waves. One day while splashing in the ocean, he meets a whale and thinks she could be a new friend. They swim together, but he can't hold his breath very long. Back on land, he has an idea: learn how to scuba dive! He gets the gear, passes the test, and reunites with his friend. But soon she has to go away for a while in search of food. Scuba Dog misses the whale and plans a special welcome-back surprise for her when she returns. He teaches his dog friends to play the tune of her song, and he makes her a beautiful, whale-sized necklace of seaweed and kelp. The whale returns with a surprise of her own—a brand-new baby calf!

Sometimes friends

Lorenzo the lobster loves pizza but doesn't know how to make one to share with his undersea friends!

LORENZO, THE PIZZA-LOVING LOBSTER

by Claire Lordon • 9781499802283 • 32 pages
9.75 x 8.25 • On Sale: May 3, 2016 • Ages 4-8
$16.99 (CAN $21.99)

When Lorenzo the lobster is wandering on the beach, he discovers a pizza, and it becomes his favorite food ever! He tells his friend Kalena the sea turtle about it and they try to make a pizza of their own. But Lorenzo can't remember the ingredients! Was it seaweed cake, kelp paste, and sand dollars? Or kelp dough, squid ink, and coral rings? After they make a few unappetizing attempts, Kalena gets frustrated and leaves hungry and unhappy. As she trundles home, she comes across something delicious...it must be the pizza Lorenzo was talking about! She brings it back for Lorenzo, and after figuring out the recipe, they throw a pizza party for all their friends!

CLAIRE LORDON is an illustrator and designer with a BFA in illustration from the Rhode Island School of Design. This is her first picture book. She lives in Brooklyn, New York.

Where's the starfish? Where's the jellyfish? Where's the clownfish?

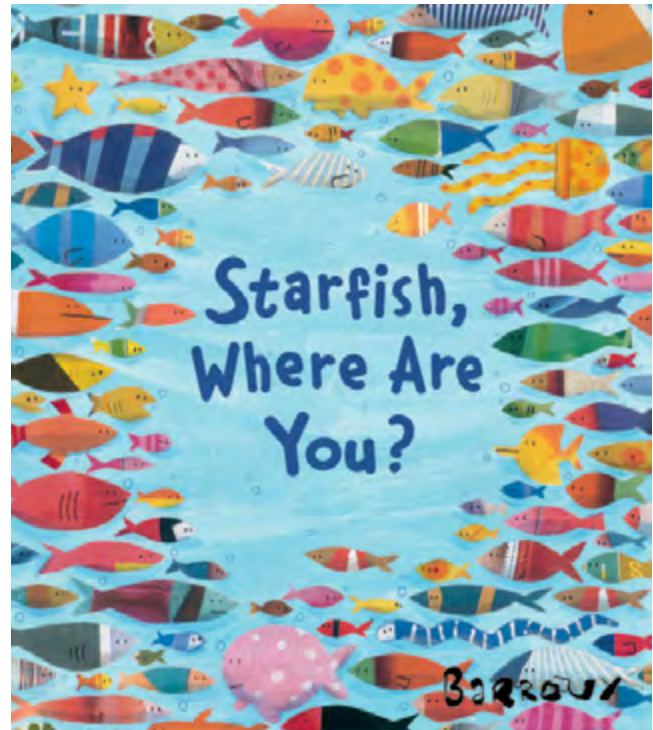

What starts as a game of ocean hide-and-seek quickly turns into something more significant in this environmentally-minded book.

Starfish, Where Are You? is an almost wordless tale about marine pollution that offers readers the chance to discuss environmental concerns in a gentle way. This touching and elegant picture book is filled with intricate scenes and three sweet characters to spot on every page. With only a few sentences and beautiful, heartwarming simplicity, this charming story puts the power back in the hands (or fins) of the natural world—with a bold, stunning twist at the end.

Join a little girl named Josette as she searches 1920s Paris to find the best artist to paint a portrait of her stuffed-animal rabbit, Pepette.

Seeing all the portraits of her family in her Paris home, Josette decides that her stuffed-animal rabbit, Pepette, needs a portrait of her own. The two of them set off for Montmartre, the art center of 1920s Paris, to seek out the perfect artist for the job. They encounter Pablo Picasso, Salvador Dalí, Marc Chagall, and Henri Matisse, and each tries his hand at the project. While all the resulting paintings are beautiful, Josette doesn't think any of them really capture the true essence of Pepette—her soft gray ears, her heart-shaped nose, and all her wonderfulness. Well, Josette will have to paint the portrait herself!

The man painted a most unusual portrait.
“You like?” said the painter, motioning to his canvas.

Josette stood back.

The Blast Back! series introduces early readers to history and gives them an entertaining and educational peek into ancient civilizations and events.

When people talk about ancient Egypt, mummies and pyramids may come to mind. But what was living there and then really like? This engaging nonfiction book, complete with black-and-white interior illustrations, will make readers feel as if they've traveled back in time. It covers everything from what Egyptians did for fun to the gods and goddesses they worshipped, and more. Kids will learn cool, little-known facts about ancient Egypt, such as how doctors used pigs' teeth to cure upset stomachs and that pets were often buried with their owner so they could be together in the afterlife.
