Other ideas for Scuba Dog

- *Pretend you are scuba diving. Use a bottle of bubbles and blow them everywhere as you explore the ocean.
- *Search the Internet for videos of real scuba diving dogs.
- *Ask a local dive master to come in to talk to your students about diving. If this isn't possible, do an Internet search for a virtual visit/Skype
- *Make your own Scuba Dog snack mix with snacks like goldfish or whale shaped crackers, oyster crackers, gummy fish, Scooby-Doo baked graham cracker sticks (shaped like dog bones), and blue M&Ms or jelly beans. Yum!

Journal ideas:

- *Plan your own hello gift for Whale. What would it look like? How would you present your gift?
- *If you could become friends with a sea creature, which animal would you choose? Why?
- *If one of your friends had to go away, what gift would you give upon their return? Why?
- *Do you think Scuba Dog will ever get his dog friends to go diving with him? Why or why not?
- *What are some things Scuba Dog, Whale and the baby might do together?
- *If you went scuba diving, what would you like to see and why?

Center Ideas:

- *Exploring Shells – include a variety of shells, magnifying glasses and shell identification books from your school or local library
- *Researching Animals – include printed copies of our research sheets and books about whales and dogs
- *Friendship Necklaces – include beads, strings, a copy of Scuba Dog, and other books about friendship
